

The Biology of Fungi
9th International Mycological Congress

1 - 6 August 2010 | Edinburgh, UK

CALL FOR SYMPOSIA AND WORKSHOPS

For further details please visit: www.imc9.info

The 9th International Mycological Congress (IMC9: the Biology of Fungi) will be hosted by the British Mycological Society in 2010 in Edinburgh, Scotland.

CALL FOR SYMPOSIA AND WORKSHOPS

Proposals are invited for symposia and workshops within the following scientific themes of the congress. Proposals should be addressed to the relevant theme chair by 15 April 2009 according to the guidelines in the IMC9 website.

Cell biology, biochemistry and physiology
Chair: Prof Gero Steinberg [G.Steinberg@exeter.ac.uk]

Environment, ecology and interactions
Chair: Prof Lynne Boddy [boddyl@Cardiff.ac.uk]

Evolution, biodiversity and systematics
Chair: Prof Pedro Crous [p.crous@cbs.knaw.nl]

Fungal pathogenesis and disease control
Chair: Prof Alastair Brown [al.brown@abdn.ac.uk]

Genomics, genetics and molecular biology
Chair: Dr Paul Dyer [Paul.Dyer@nottingham.ac.uk]

Call for Papers
Abstracts for oral and poster presentation at the Congress are requested by 9 April 2010.

INVITED SPEAKERS

The following international experts will present at the Congress:

Keynote Speaker
John Taylor University of California at Berkeley, USA
- The poetry of mycological accomplishment and challenge

Plenary Speakers
Alastair Fitter, York University, UK
Joseph Heitman, Duke University, USA

David Hibbett, Clark University, USA
Nancy Keller, University of Wisconsin-Madison, USA
Gero Steinberg, Exeter University, UK
Nick Talbot, Exeter University, UK

LOCATION

IMC9 will be held in the outstanding venues of the Edinburgh International Conference Centre and the Usher Hall in the centre of the city. Both have excellent facilities for up to 2,500 delegates and are 5 minutes walk away from each other.

IMC9 is hosted by the British Mycological Society. Conference administration is provided by Elsevier.

For further information, information on submitting proposals and news of jobs and studentships visit: www.imc9.info or contact Nina Cosgrove
